A. A. Hayles, Esqr., Managing Editor, The Mail, Madras.—

" A work to which you have been led by Powers greater than your own. You should be proud of this work which contains so much evidence of devoted industry. The Most High will surely bless it and its author."

Sir Srinivasa Sarma, Kf., C.I.E,, Editor of 'The Whip', Calcutta.—

"I know Mr. Nayudu to be one of the ablest civil servants in Madras in his day, a man who was noted for his strictness in official life. The whole book has been prepared with the single purpose of God-realisation and his experiences on the subject have been well brought out here. He is a strict devotee."

Sri K. S. Krishnaswamy lyengar Avi., Retired Judge, Madras High Court.—" The book contains the quint essence of our morality and religion as handed down to us by the ancient saints and sages of our land. The principles and practice are found explained in your book with an insight and clarity rarely seen in similar works on the subject."

*Sir C. P. Ramaswami Ayyar Avi., K.C.S.I., Ex-Dewan of Travancore.—*ct I congratulate you on the originality and research displayed in the book/'

Sir C. V. Raman, Kt., F'.R.S., Nobel

Laureate, M.A., Hons.
Ph.D., Hon. D.Sc., Hon. LL.D.—"A great labour of love on your part."

Sir Akbar Hydari, K.C.I.E., C.SJ., C.I.E., I.C.S., Governor of Assam.—"Not only I but my eldest girl delved into the book and found in it much food for thought. We cannot claim to be on the spiritual plane which you have attained, but I feel myself in the presence of a remarkable work."

The Theosophist, Adyar, Madras.—"The author, who has had a distinguished administrative career under the Madras Government, has a flowing style which matches the exuberance of his emotion in treating the various aspects of his approach to the theme of a Supreme Being."
